

thrive best on what now appear as obstacles to its universal enforcement. I am sure that all of us in the court room want to see this torn land once again "ready to bloom and grow fruits", as Dr. Silcher put it yesterday, but we do not want to reap another harvest of dragons' teeth. Nor can a healthful and peaceful European community be restored by drawing a shroud over the dead without benefit of inquest. Solemn as is the obligation that the defendants be given every benefit of a full and fair trial, equally solemn is the obligation to the millions in whose behalf these charges are brought that they be given the protection of law and order in a warweary world.
