Mr. Hiss' secretary referred me to Mrs. Anderson (FFC) for the two cables (2411 and 354) which we requested from her, saying that 3 or 4 people had already called the State Department for the same cables and they had given Mrs. Anderson the information and were referring the Treasury people to her.

I called Mrs. Anderson who said that Moskovitz had 2411 and that Mr. Keatley, in charge of cables at State, had informed her that 354 was a State message and had nothing to do with FFC matters and she suggested that I call Mr. Keatley for more information. I called Mr. Keatley and he quite impatiently advised me that it was a Department communication, a strictly political communication which had nothing to do with economic matters, and that he had no authority to distribute it outside the Department, and as a matter of fact, it had had very limited distribution within the Department. He further ^{advised} that only the European Division, the Political Adviser, and Sumner Welles had anything to do with sending the message.
