

~~HH-1~~

of the French subsidiaries of the Ford Motor Company at Dearborn." From then on, the "Commissars" visited him seldom and he was subject only to the slightest control represented by a visit from one of the Ford Works executive once every three weeks.

The ¹First Frenchman to go to Berlin⁶ was welcome in Dearborn, too. His letter, which had been addressed to Mr. Edsel Ford, was followed, twelve days later, by another letter to Edsel Ford enclosing an audit of profits accruing from his expanded business -- 1,600,000 francs. True, the cash position of the firm was weak in dollars, due to world restrictions imposed by the U.S. Treasury.

"But, as you know, our gold standard has been replaced by another standard which, in my opinion, is a draft on the future, not only in France and Europe but, maybe, in the world."

This letter was answered personally both by Mr. Charles E. Sorenson, General ~~Manager~~ Manager of the Ford Company of Dearborn, and by Edsel Ford. Mr. Sorenson said: "We all realize that you are carefully guiding our business in the unusual situation that it is now." Mr. Ford congratulated Dollfus on the fact that his "trading results" had been profitable, adding: "I think this is a remarkable achievement in view of the difficulties that ^{we} at present at this time." (PENCIL NOTATION: AMERICAN PLANES (FORD) BOMB FORD).

P Thus with the ~~fall of France~~ fall of France began a unique alliance, intimate and unbusinesslike, between the three men. Unbusinesslike because the letters and cables did not reach