Sprech and I had arranged to ~~discuss~~ cross examination of Professor Krauch. I began the cross examination with emphasis on the ~~preparation~~ coming of war.

Now, you testified, I believe, that there were points of disagreement between yourself and the Nazi Party. You will recall, for example, the first point: "We demand the unification of all Germans in the Greater Germany on the basis of the right of self-determination of peoples."

Now, do you agree with this?

"I agree with this point as far as Austria was concerned.
Austria had been part of the German Reich before."

"Well, did you believe that Germany had a right to invade Austria on the basis of this principle?"

"No. That is not what I meant to say. I would have left that to a free decision in Austria."

"To be specific, can you tell the Tribunal which were the chief points of the Nazi Party program with which you disagreed?"

"I did not agree at all with the taking over of industry.
That is one reason Professor Bosch sent me to the Four Year Plan, to prevent dilettantes from the Party taking away industry's initiative and independence."
