

where marked.
Understand - double indent

Q by Chairman: "It was the purpose of such statements to have world-wide effect?"

A. by Carter: "That is correct."

~~Q.~~
~~Q. Ch.~~ "You had a conscious state of mind that when you were giving advice to your client you were...giving advice to the German government: did you not?"

~~A.~~
~~A. C.~~ "I know that it was probable...yes."

~~Q.~~
CHAIRMAN: "Now, in your advice which you sent on the armament question, you say this: 'Germany does not want armament in itself. It is willing to destroy every weapon of war if other nations will do the same. If other nations, however, continue to refuse to disarm, the German Government is left with no choice except to demand an equality of armament. The German people are unwilling to believe that any people will deny them this right today.' That is part of the advice which you gave. That is true, is it not?"

~~A.~~
CARTER: "Yes."

~~Q.~~
CHAIRMAN: "You also advised that a definitive statement from a responsible official emanate as follows: 'Questions have been raised concerning the status of Germany's so-called 'storm troops.' These number about 2,500,000 men between the ages of 18 and 60, physically well trained and disciplined, but not armed, not prepared for war, and organized only for the purpose of preventing for all time the return of the Communist peril.'... You made such a statement to your client?"

~~A.~~
CARTER: "Yes."

~~Q.~~
CHAIRMAN: "That a responsible Germany official, if they are in harmony with your recommendation, issue that statement?"

~~A.~~
CARTER: "Yes."

~~Q.~~
CHAIRMAN: "Why should this private company be interested in the armament question?"

~~A.~~
CARTER: "Well, I do not think they are interested in the armament question any more than they are interested in any question in regard to Germany that is being discussed in the U.S..."

~~Q.~~
CHAIRMAN: "Coming right down to it, Mr. Carter, there is no question but what this contract was made by the Farben for the purpose of receiving advice to be given to the German government."

~~A.~~
CARTER: "If they approved it, yes."