Public Affairs who relieved us completely of all the problems attendant upon the literary editing, publication and distribution of this book. For their sympathetic guidance and their technical assistance we wish to record our thanks.

To the American people and to others who may be interested in the economic problems of Palestine and the Middle East, we submit this report as a public service.

M. H. Blinken

President

American Palestine Institute